If you see some outlandish dressed men parading the streets of Washington C. H. late Friday afternoon, don't be alarmed. They will be only some war veterans tramping along that rugged path to the door of the Forty and Eight of the Paul H. Hughey post of the American Legion.

They will be the victims of what is called in Forty and Eight circles a "wreck." And, in case you don't know, a Forty and Eight wreck is an initiation that is really something.

The Forty and Eight, incidentally, is the fun branch of the American Legion. Their play gets a little rough sometimes, especially for the neophytes when there is a "wreck."

The festivities are scheduled to start with a ritualistic service at Legion Hall at 5 P. M. Then will come the horseplay. Another solemn rite will complete the initiation at the hall. The whole affair is to last five or six hours.

I understand 11 veterans are going into the Forty and Eight at Friday night's wreck.

There's been a lot of whooping and hollering lately about those sounds in the night—the Diesel engines which blare through town.

It brings to mind an incident during the late war—early on the morning of June 24, 1943, to be precise. The Record-Herald of that date tells the story clearly:

"The National Limited, streamlined passenger train on the main line of the B. & O., was derailed through this city, and the unusual (Diesel) whistle aroused most of the citizens, many of whom believed it was an air raid warning.

"The Diesel engine train passed through this city about 12:30 and the loud noise of the whistle, which was sounded almost continuously as the train was passing through, aroused sleepers generally . . ."

Speaking of the Diesel whistles is a reminder of Xenia's anti-noise ordinance, which has caused intramural warfare between the officials and the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Jack Jordan, in his Xenia column, repeats a story told by Wilbur Thornhill, city commission president.

"Did you hear," Thornhill said, "about the smart railroad conductor who brought a freight through Xenia right after the anti-noise ordinance went into effect?"

"Parking his train with livestock cars at the edge of town, he went down the line, banging on the cars with a club and shouting to the bawling livestock: 'Shut up! You're in Xenia!'"

Meyers Estate Now for Sale

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., June 16—(AP)—The palatial Long Island estate of Bennett E. Meyers, former army air forces major general now in jail, is up for sale.

The asking price is $100,000, his wife announced yesterday.

Mrs. Ila Rae Meyers, a former actress, said she plans to continue living at the estate until it is sold.

The twelve-acre property, overlooking Long Island Sound and including a 12-room Georgian colonial house, has been listed with real estate dealers.

Meyers is serving a term of from 20 months to five years for inducing an associate to commit perjury before a congressional committee investigating war contracts.

Armory Found Suitable For Kindergarten Use

A responsible state official has given approval to holding kindergarten classes in the Washington C. H. Armory, it was revealed Wednesday.

Otis B. Core, a member of the Citizens School Committee, quoted James C. Thomas of the division of factory and building inspection, Ohio Department of Industrial Relations, as giving a "clean bill of health" to the building, provided two minor changes are made.

Grain Buying Under Scrutiny

Shipments Overseas Reflected on Market

WASHINGTON, June 16—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said today huge government purchase of grain, cotton, fats and other commodities for European recovery "might" have a sharp impact on the market.

He told a special House investigating committee that this could happen even though his department will try to influence the market "little as possible." He added:

"We won't try to buy ahead of the market or above the prevailing market price. Sometimes we will buy when the price is falling—not to sustain the price but because it is easier to get the grain than with less effect on the market."

Rep. Buffett (R-Neb.) suggested the government should "stagger" its purchases, buying in comparatively small lots on a regular schedule, instead of huge quantities "at one clip."

But Brannan, who succeeded Clinton P. Anderson in the agriculture department post recently, said he is not convinced that staggered purchases would result in more stabilized prices.

Committee Chairman Anderson (R-Minn.) said millers in his state are complaining they can't get enough grain to keep their mills running more than three days a week because of government grain buying for overseas shipments.

The committee is checking up on the government's grain buying program.

Cincinnati To Die In The Electric Chair

COLUMBUS, June 16—(AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court today refused to review the first degree murder conviction of Elmer Curditt of Cincinnati and set July 16 for his death in the electric chair. Curditt was convicted of slaying Thomas Wilson, cafe owner, in a holdup attempt Dec. 3, 1947.

Fireworks Being Bootlegged By Precocious Youngsters

COLUMBUS, June 16—(AP)—Precocious Ohio youngsters are engaged in widespread bootlegging of fireworks, the state industrial relations director said today.

Director W. J. Rogers said this is the way it works: Small boys, without their parents' knowledge, have been getting high-powered fire crackers and other fireworks through advertisements in children's magazines.

They get shipments of the fireworks—banned by Ohio law for sale at retail—by railway express from outside the state.

Technically they are within the law, so long as they don't try to sell to their pals. But, boys with a flair for business are attempting to sell their fireworks at a fat profit.

A mother in suburban Worthington reported her small son bought $11 worth of fireworks in that manner. She said she caught on to the deal just as the youngster was about to set himself up in the fireworks business.

Director Rogers, commenting that "it's a serious problem," asked all Ohio sheriffs and police chiefs to help break up this firecracker finagling.

The plane is a product of the army's all-weather experimental division at Wilmington and was designed to cope with any kind of weather.

And, General Carroll reported, it has encountered and conquered all kinds of weather in its daily flights to and from the nation's capital.

The plane carries a crew of pilot, co-pilot and two engineers. The men usually only check instruments during the plane's flight.

The plane customarily leaves Wilmington at 7 A. M. (EST) and returns at 4 P. M. each "working day," Monday through Friday.

Identification Sought

PAINESVILLE, June 16—(AP)—Police sought today to identify the body of a woman found dead near a railroad crossing.

Home Sold Down the River

BALTIMORE, June 1—(AP)—Frank Mach, 63, bought three boats a year ago in order to get away from landlord problems.

He had been evicted from a more conventional abode shortly before he purchased the small cabin vessels at a war surplus sale.

He has been living quietly on the most comfortable one, the Pocahontas.

He kept them tied up at a city pier. However, the city, looking upon the boats as a fire hazard, asked him to move them.

He refused. They handed him a bill for dock space.

He did not pay.

Since the Pocahontas and the other two boats were in the harbor and, technically, not in the city, the case went to federal court.

Judge William C. Coleman ordered him to pay $330 rent or move the boats.

He didn't pay the rent—and he didn't move them.

They were sold to a marine go.

Strike Threats Developing in Europe Again

Fighting Breaks Out In France Between Police and Strikers

CLERMONT-FERRAND, France June 16—(AP)—A spreading strike wave like last winter's cold civil war, crept over south central and northeastern France today, sparked by a general work stoppage in this French tire capital.

At least 150 persons were injured here when police forcibly ejected strikers who had occupied the Berougnan Rubber Factory. The rubber factory strike, called by the Communist dominated General Confederation of Labor, touched off the general stoppage, and by noon, the movement was spreading rapidly to other communities. The U. S. embassy said this is a "red belt."

Police moved in on the rubber plant last night. State police and mounted Republican guards were met by a barrage of missiles. Strikers used clubs made from gum rubber.

Police used tear gas. The strikers responded with gas capsules of their own. Reinforcements were rushed here by trucks from neighboring towns. The police received the assault this morning and forced (Please Turn to Page Two)

Night Club Closes After Strike and Boss Throws Party

NEW YORK, June 16—(AP)—When 160 employees of the Monie Carlo night club walked off their jobs yesterday, the management shut down and threw a party.

The idle workers were invited in for "drinks on the house." Musicians of two bands started a "jam session." Headwaiters danced with hat check girls, while kitchen help sat down to a feast in the dining room.

The work stoppage came after eight bartenders struck in a wage dispute, and others joined in a sympathy stoppage.

The management said this and "dwindling receipts" prompted the decision to close down.

Manager Joe Baum, who said he didn't blame the workers for wanting more money, did the honors by mixing drinks for pickets who took turns leaving their sidewalk posts.

Failure To Yell 'Fore' Costs Golfer $6,500

COLUMBUS, June 16—(AP)—A game of golf cost Morton J. Heldman of Cincinnati $6,500, all because he didn't yell "fore."

The ball driven by Heldman hit his caddy, 12-year-old Teddy Gardner, in the head from a distance of 15 feet.

A common pleas court jury awarded the caddy $10,000 damages but the trial judge considered this excessive and reduced the amount to $6,500.

The appellate court affirmed this award and the supreme court today refused to consider Heldman's appeal.

Push-Button Plane Flights Made Daily from Wilmington

BOWLING GREEN, June 16—(AP)—An army push-button plane has been making daily flights between Wilmington, O., and Washington, D. C., since Aug. 1, 1946.

Major Gen. Frank O. Carroll said last night.

General Carroll, who is director of research and development of the air materiel command, Wright-Patterson Airforce base, spoke at the Ohio Aviation clinic.

He said the plane, a four-engine C-54 with gadgets for pre-determining its course and landing, on only two days had failed to take off. These failures, he added, were mechanical and not due to weather.

The plane is a product of the army's all-weather experimental division at Wilmington and was designed to cope with any kind of weather.

And, General Carroll reported, it has encountered and conquered all kinds of weather in its daily flights to and from the nation's capital.

The plane carries a crew of pilot, co-pilot and two engineers. The men usually only check instruments during the plane's flight.

Three Planes Are Missing Over Atlantic

PARIS, June 16—(AP)—Search planes and ships scoured the Atlantic today in an effort to solve the mysterious disappearance of three Flying Fortress planes believed privately owned and headed for Palestine.

One search plane out of Santa Maria, the Azores, reported spotting floating debris. The Portuguese destroyer Lima sped to the area.

The planes, their nationality unidentified officially, were reported to have disappeared yesterday on a flight from the Azores to Corsica. A dispatch from Lisbon, Portugal, said all three were reported headed to Palestine with crews of Jews.

Santa Maria sources said it was believed two of the three planes might have continued safely on their journey.

The planes were last heard from Monday when one reported an engine afire. The three had left Santa Maria a short time earlier.

Truman in Missouri Still 'Pouring It On'

PHILADELPHIA, June 16—(AP)—The myth that Republican presidential nominations are decided in a smoke filled room will be buried here next week.

Chairman Walter S. Hallanan told members of the GOP arrangement committee today.

"We all know that smear has been invented, nourished and spread by willful propagandists with New Deal axes to grind," he told the committee as it met to complete plans for the largest convention in the party's history.

Meanwhile, the convention contest committee faced six delegate disputes, two of them involving Negro recognition. The platform committee prepared to start discussions tomorrow.

Ezra R. Whitla of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, chairman of the contest committee, said at least three of the delegate disputes—Georgia, South Carolina and Alaska—are "serious contests."

TOP OR NOTHING

NEW CASTLE, N. H., June 16—(AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft's leading supporter in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination said today he didn't think the Ohio senator would accept the vice presidential spot on the GOP ticket—even if offered him.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert (R-Ohio) said that a majority of the Ohio delegation had not given any thought to anything but top position for Taft.

"I don't think Sen. Taft would accept anything else," Herbert said, "but I have not talked with him about it. As far as our delegation has gone it's just Taft."

Two of the other three announced Republican candidates have indicated they are not interested in vice-presidency. They are Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Mine Contract Negotiations in Deadlock Again

Federal Mediator Steps in After Meeting Breaks Up

WASHINGTON, June 16—(AP)—Towering "Cy" Chung, the government's conciliation chief, moved in fast today in a bid to keep John L. Lewis and the soft coal operators from getting too mad to talk contract terms.

The operators broke off negotiations yesterday, saying the sessions were "futile" because of Lewis' strings on bargaining for a new wage-welfare fund pact. The present one expires June 30.

Ching called both sides to a meeting with him tomorrow morning. And Lewis ordered his own advisers to assemble one week later for what may be a strike strategy huddle.

The Southern Coal Producers Association, which won a court order to force Lewis to include its representative in the industry-wide meetings, disagreed with the walk-out action of the other operators.

But for the moment, at least, the association was unable to do anything about it. Lewis said Joseph E. Moody, the association president, "walked out, too, leaving us sitting there."

The SCPA board could decide to invite Lewis to meet separately and make a contract. The United Mine Workers chief expressed the opinion at a news conference that two leading members of the southern group could negotiate an agreement if they wanted to because of their position in the industry. He named J. D. Francis, head of Island Creek Coal Co. and (Please Turn to Page Two)

Yugoslav Ship Is not Loaded

NEW YORK, June 16—(AP)—Cargo for a Yugoslav vessel—which longshoremen refused to load after they found portraits of Stalin and Tito on the ship—remained on a Brooklyn pier today.

"If it's Joe's stuff," said one dock worker, "let him come over and load it himself."

The 10,000-ton passenger-cargo ship, the Radnik, originally was scheduled to sail at noon today with a cargo including food, automobiles, trucks, jeeps and ambulances.

Sixty-three dock hands, members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Union, quit loading the ship yesterday after they found hammer-and-sickle insignia and Tito and Stalin pictures adorning the walls of the ship's main lounge.

Ohio Democrats To Ignore Truman

COLUMBUS, June 16—(AP)—Although President Truman is scheduled to make a 10-minute speech in Columbus tomorrow, two leaders of the Ohio Democratic party said today they knew nothing officially about it.

The two, Eugene Hanhart, Democratic state chairman, and Albert A. Horstman, Democratic national committeeman, added that they are making no arrangements for greeting the president.

Horstman said he would be in Chicago tomorrow.

New Fire Engine Fails During Fire

WEST CARROLLTON, June 16—(AP)—This community's brand-new $10,000 pumper broke down yesterday in the middle of the biggest fire here in years.

Fire Capt. William Aufdush, enraged at heckling by bystanders, tossed a fire hat to the ground, stamped on it and resigned from the force.

Damage to the warehouse on fire was estimated at $10,000.

Sweden's King 90 Years Old

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 16—(AP)—King Gustav V observed his 90th birthday today.

Other nations joined the Swedes in honoring their monarch, who has occupied his throne more than 40 years. Britain sent a cruiser to pay him homage. Royal guests included King Frederik IX of Denmark and his queen, and Crown Prince Olaf of Norway and his crown princess.

Despite his years, King Gustav remains active. He made several hunting trips last season and only recently gave up tennis on doctors' orders.

Four Farm Lobbyists Under Indictment

WASHINGTON, June 16—(AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted the agricultural commissioners of Texas and Georgia, two farm organizations and two other persons on charges of violating the lobbying law.

Attorney General Clark said they are accused of conspiracy to lobby for higher commodity prices without registering with Congress. He said they had a personal interest in higher prices because of trading on commodity markets.

Those indicted: J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture.

Tom Linder, Georgia commissioner of agriculture.

Ralph W. Moore of Granger, Texas, who maintains headquarters in Washington as secretary of the national farm committee.

Robert M. Harris, senior partner in the cotton brokerage firm of Harris & Vose, New York City.

The National Farm Committee, a Texas corporation headed by Linder.

The Farm Commissioner's Council, which has headquarters here.

Recruiting Campaign

In the meantime, the services would have to conduct an intensive recruiting campaign. These would be major inducements:

1. Increasing the pay for all enlisted men 25 percent.

2. Lowering the passing grade of the army's aptitude test from 80 to 70 points.

3. Accepting two-year enlistments with the same privileges as enlistments for longer terms.

The bill before the House would hold up inducements for 75 days and then permit them only if the president formally ordered a start.

The bill would require men from 18 through 30 to register. Those from 19 through 25 could be drafted for two years. Most veterans, and members of reserve units, the national guard and air national guard, would be exempt.

The Senate passed its similar bill last week. It would call for registration from 18 through 25, and inducements from 19 through 25.

FOREIGN AID UPPED

The Senate's $6,125,710,228 global aid bill headed today for a stormy reception in the economy-minded House which last week voted many millions less.

The Senate okayed the unprecedented sum by a 60 to 9 vote shortly after last midnight. If rejected by the House—as it undoubtedly will be—the bill will be sent to a joint conference committee for agreement on some (Please Turn to Page Two)

Vote on Draft Sidetracked by Recruiting Plan

Foreign Aid Program Makes Comeback with Senate Approval

WASHINGTON, June 16—(AP) Senators dug into farm problems today under advance notice of a stiff fight against setting up a new price support plan for agricultural products.

However a threatened battle over the oleo tax side issue appeared to have been averted.

Backers of a separate measure to repeal federal oleomargarine taxes indicated they probably would abandon their plan to tack it to the long range farm bill.

The Republican leadership called up the farm bill for debate today.

Even before it started Senator Maybank (D-SC) promised a finish fight against the measure. He called it "terrible—no farm bill at all," and predicted the Senate will accept instead a stopgap price support measure already passed by the House.

The bill would set up a permanent new system of farm price supports and reorganize to some extent the agriculture department and the soil conservation program.

The present price support program designed to insure farmers against disastrous losses, is due to expire at the end of this year. The House last week passed an 18-month extension of the major provisions of the existing program.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt), floor manager for the Senate bill, told his colleagues last night that unless the Senate passed the long range measure today "there will be no farm legislation" this session.

DRAFT SIDETRACKED

House draft foes rallied hopelessly around a plan to keep the issue on ice until next January.

The idea was brought out late yesterday by Rep. Shafer (R-Mich). It drew quick support from several members opposing a peace-time return to selective service and a tentative endorsement from Rep. Short (R-Mo) who is leading the floor fight against the bill.

House leaders said a final vote on the draft may not come until tomorrow, although they still hoped to finish it today. Chairman Andrews (R-NY) of the House armed services committee predicted passage by a wide margin—and without the delayed-action Shafer proposal.

Among other amendments which Andrews said he thought would be rejected was one by Rep. Gavin (R-Pa) to allow the armed services to enlist up to 100,000 aliens for three-year terms.

The Senate-passed bill contains a similar proposal. But the number of aliens was put at 25,000 and their terms at five years.

The Shafer plan would hold off registration, as well as inducements until next January 31. The law would go into operation then only if voluntary enlistments had not produced enough men.

In the meantime, the services would have to conduct an intensive recruiting campaign. These would be major inducements:

1. Increasing the pay for all enlisted men 25 percent.

2. Lowering the passing grade of the army's aptitude test from 80 to 70 points.

3. Accepting two-year enlistments with the same privileges as enlistments for longer terms.

Simplified Tax Form May Soon Be Abolished

Withholding Forms To Be Changed For Coming Year

Hundreds of Fayette Countyans who have been using the simplified withholding tax form for returning their incomes for taxation, will use a new form to file their income tax report next year, if plans of the U. S. Treasury materialize.

The withholding form is to be abolished after this year.

The form, known as "W-2" is the withholding tax receipt which employers now give their workers at the end of each year. It lists the amount of salary each employee received and how much tax was withheld.

By answering a few simple questions on the form, workers earning less than $5,000 yearly have been able to send it in to the collector of internal revenue as a tax return, leaving it up to the treasury officials to figure whether they paid the right tax.

However, the treasury officials have announced that after four years of experimenting with "W-2" it has shown that much confusion resulted.

Most of this arose, it is explained, from the fact that so many wage earners worked for more than one employer and had difficulty deciding how to fill out the forms.

Instead of "W-2" the so-called "short form," income tax blanks will be revised and simplified to incorporate the present good features of "W-2" and eliminate the defects, it is stated.

The new forms will be available next year for withholding tax-payers' use, and "W-2" will be continued merely as a receipt from the employer for wages withheld.

Project Is Made And Eaten by 4-H

Members of Eber Happy Cooking Sisters made (and ate) their club project at the regular meeting Tuesday at Eber School.

The project (and refreshments) consisted of fruit salad, hot cocoa and honey and peanut butter sandwiches.

President Phyllis Wright presided at the meeting. The roll, called by Margaret Johnson, was answered with naming precious stones.

The club decided to have a flower garden at the setting of the County Fair booth. Miss Edda Lou Stagg of Leesburg was the club's guest for the evening.

Games were led by the recreation leader, and the date for the next meeting was set for next Tuesday. It is hoped that Miss Margaret Watson, county home demonstration agent, will be present at the meeting.

Bake Sale Discussed By Scissors Sisters

Members of the Scissors Sisters 4-H club from Union Township met Tuesday evening at the home of Glenna and Barbara Parks, with Vice President Marjorie Parks presiding.

The president, Virginia Mann, was absent. A total of nine members answered the roll call by telling their favorite colors.

Refreshments included a cake baked by Jo Ann Morris.

Plans for the tour were completed and a bake sale was discussed. Guests at the meeting were Barbara Mustain and Karen Stephenson. Holding of contests closed the meeting.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Jo Ann Morris.

In the Los Angeles area, there are public booths where anybody can get his blood pressure reading for 25 cents.

No Paralysis Cases In Fayette County

Fayette County has been reported completely free from infantile paralysis cases in 1948, although 23 cases have been reported throughout the state.

Dr. John D. Porterfield, state health director, said the 23 cases represented those reported to his department up to June 12. During the same period last year, 15 cases were reported.

Ohio had a total of 1,480 cases of the disease last year, the highest on record in the state.

Fayette County has been free of the dread, crippling malady for the past four years, the Health Department reported.

Mainly About People

Bobby Dean Dawes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dawes was taken to Children's Hospital, Columbus, Tuesday for observation and treatment.

Mrs. J. A. Bock was taken from her home 530 Pearl Street to University Hospital, Columbus, for observation and treatment Tuesday in the Klever ambulance.

Mrs. Walter J. Cabbage, daughter Judith Ann were returned to their home on the Stafford road from Grant Hospital, Columbus, Tuesday afternoon in the Gerstner ambulance.

Mrs. George Campbell underwent a major operation in St. Anthony's Hospital, Columbus, Tuesday. She is reported to be getting along as well as could be expected.

Mrs. Clarence Shopshire is at the home of her daughter Mrs. P. W. Jackson, Marysville, Route 3 while Mr. Shopshire is in University Hospital, Columbus, for treatment.

Janet Lee Storer, of Mt. Sterling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Storer underwent a tonsillectomy at the office of Dr. Jack Persinger, Tuesday with Dr. Marvin Roszmann, assisting.

Barbara Lee Satchell, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Satchell, of 212 Grand Avenue, fell while at play Monday evening and fractured her left elbow. She was taken to the office of Dr. James Rose where she received attention.

No 4-H Band Practice

Band practice by the 4-H Club Band, scheduled for Thursday evening, has been called off. Roland Chase, band leader, is scheduled to lead the Jeffersonville Band and would be unable to attend the practice session.

It is estimated that more than half a million people die in the U. S. every year from causes brought on by high blood pressure.

Europe Strike Threat

At least 70 police were hurt, 46 of them seriously enough to require hospital treatment. About 80 strikers were injured, many seriously. Many of the injured, both strikers and policemen, suffered acid burns on their faces.

By noon, several thousand miners had quit their jobs at Brassac, St. Etienne and other communities in sympathy strikes. Tobacco plant workers quit at Riom. In northeastern France, several thousand metal workers of Belfort voted to strike.

In the national assembly, deputies prepared to debate the new strike wave, and the Communists expected to demand that the government of Premier Robert Schuman explain the violence here.

(In Brussels, Belgium, 250,000 steel and metal workers struck for pay increases of five percent. Antwerp's Ford, General Motors and Chrysler assembly lines and the Bell Telephone Factory were idle.

(In London, another 3,000 dockworkers quit work in a wildcat stoppage which has halted about 100 ships at the London wharves. About 6,900 of the port's 25,000 dockers now are idle, porting disciplinary action against 11 longshoremen who refused to handle "dirty cargo."

(In Turin, Italy, a 24-hour work stoppage which paralyzed the city's heavy industry came to an end. The strikers were involved in a dispute over working hours.)

Presidency for Taft

Stassen of Minnesota has answered questions on the subject with the statement: "I'm running for president."

STASSEN RUMORS
WASHINGTON, June 16—(AP)—Reports came out of the Harold E. Stassen camp today that of the Minnesota fails to win the Republican presidential nomination he might lead a convention move to draft Senator Arthur Vandenberg.

Stassen's friends here contend the last week has shown an upturn in the former governor's political standing from the low point reached after his defeat by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the May 21 Oregon primary.

These supporters claim Stassen still has a good chance to get the nomination. Stassen has predicted his own victory on the ninth ballot of the party convention opening Monday in Philadelphia. That's five more than he said it would take him to win when he was riding to success in the April 13 Nebraska primary.

TRUMAN IN MIDWEST

In platform talks, Mr. Truman carried on his appeal for votes as his homeward-bound campaign train moved eastward.

"The issue in this country is between special privilege and the people," he said at Albuquerque, N. M., last night.

"I think I represent the people, and I am trying to tell the people just how I represent them."

This is one of the themes at which he has hammered during nearly 60 talks since he left Washington June 3 on a cross-country pre-convention tour.

The president also repeated yesterday that he has been "pouring it on" Congress.

"And they've got the jitters back there," he told an Albuquerque crowd. "They have gone to work."

Navy Is Asking For 5,000 Men To Meet Quotas

The U. S. has announced that 5,000 vacant billets in ships and shore stations of the regular navy have been made available to naval reservists of certain rates who wish to return to active duty for one year, according to Robert B. Eddy, DCC, USN, U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Chillicothe.

Enlisted, male reservists may volunteer for active duty for one year, with an option of remaining on active duty an additional year, providing funds permit.

Active duty with full pay, allowances, and sea pay when applicable, will be for general service and is necessary to implement deficiencies in the fleet. Applications are desired from Classes V-1, V-2, V-3, V-6, O-1, and O-2. USNR, and applicants must agree to remain on active duty for one year from the date of call to this duty.

Applicants must not have more than two dependents and must be physically qualified.

Application forms may be obtained from the recruiting station, and are to be forwarded to Commandant, Ninth Naval District, Attention district enlisted distribution officer, Building 1-B, Great Lakes, Illinois.

middle ground before Saturday adjournment.

The Senate action added well over a billion dollars to the House-approved bill. It did this chiefly by restoring the worldwide assistance program to a 12-month spending basis instead of the 15 months demanded by the House. In actual cash, the Senate bill upped the House amount by only $145,000,000, and was still $408,000,000 short of the amount President Truman asked.

Before its vote on the foreign spending bill, the Senate took still another step bearing importantly on American foreign policy. By a voice vote it approved a $3,686,733,250 appropriation for the navy starting July 1. This measure also goes back to the House for action on a Senate boost of more than $125,000,000.

Earlier the Senate also had disposed of a $43,422,061 government corporations bill which carried, among other things, a $30,972,061 appropriation for the Tennessee Valley Authority, including a hotly debated $4,000,000 item to start building a TVA steam plant to generate electricity.

The gigantic foreign aid bill eased through the Senate with comparatively little debate.

The measure earlier had passed its major test when the chamber voted, 64 to 15, to restore the 12-month spending period originally authorized by Congress for the $5,300,000,000 European recovery program.

This program—heart of the American drive to restore western Europe to economic health and stand off Communism—was cut only $245,000,000 by the Senate.

Mine Contract Row

O. L. Alexander, president of the Pocahontas Fuel Co.

The association represents southern companies and individual mines which produce one third of the nation's bituminous coal.

Ching, in asking all parties to confer with him tomorrow, said he had been informed they had reached an "impasse" in their own effort at making a contract.

Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the bituminous coal operators, said Lewis insisted on "activation" of the 1947 welfare and retirement fund, now over $40,000,000, as a "condition precedent to discussion of a new wage agreement."

O'Neill said that the operators concluded "that further meetings may mislead the public and governmental agencies by creating the impression that an agreement may be effected by this conference."

Lewis, meeting reporters later, said the mine workers will continue to "refuse to abandon their loved ones" who were widowed or in distress and in need of benefits authorized by the 1947 contract.

NEW YORK, June 16—(AP)—Light selling pressure was enough to lower stock prices fractions to around a point in today's market.

In the flurry of activity at the opening, the market started on a countertrend. Activity slackened but the trend continued. Even the highly popular oil group inclined lower. Grain Markets

CHICAGO, June 16—(AP)—Grains moved ahead in a strong and active market on the Board of Trade today. Wheat paced the advance and was up nearly three cents at times.

A number of reasons supported the buying, ranging from restoration by the Senate of House cuts in the foreign aid bill to a lowering of margin requirements, effective tomorrow.

In action, wheat was aided by reports of a slight improvement in domestic flour business and a boost of 2 1/2 cents in the government's buying price for cash wheat.

Corn and oats were helped by firm cash markets for these cereals. Shipping and feeding interests were active buyers of feed grains.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOWE
WASHINGTON, June 16—(P)—Don't—in the huge rush of news from here—overlook an historic step just taken by the Senate. It has just passed the "Vandenberg resolution," only seven paragraphs long.

That resolution gave the president a signal to start great wheels turning. Before they stop:

1. We may be arming the countries of western Europe.
2. We may be in military alliance with those countries.
3. The world may be divided into two armed camps, one led by the United States, the other by Russia.

Every word in the seven paragraphs of the resolution was gone over with the utmost care by the state department and the Senate foreign relations committee. They took months doing it.

The committee members, made up of Democrats and Republicans, approved the resolution. And the chairman, Senator Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, introduced it in the Senate last Friday.

So carefully was the language of the resolution chosen that Vandenberg asked the Senate not to tamper with a word of it.

He spoke in detail about its meaning. He said it was meant only for the security of the United States. He said it was aimed at no one. (The only one it could have been aimed at is Russia.)

But for seven hours the rest of the senators argued about it. Some of them frankly feared its consequences and said it would wreck the United Nations.

The resolution simply advised the president that, for the safety of this country, he should "pursue" a number of "objective." One of them was this:

"Association of the United States, by Constitutional process, with such regional and other collective arrangements as are based on continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid, and as effects its national security."

Briefly, the resolution by itself does nothing. It merely tells the president he has the Senate's blessing if he tries to work out a plan or treaty with other countries to protect this country.

But among the things he could do, although the resolution didn't say so in so many words, are these:

Work out a treaty to arm those countries of western Europe which are playing ball with us instead of Russia.

Or, even work out a military alliance with them, which probably would mean promises from us to help them if they're attacked.

This was made pretty clear in the debate.

But—and this is where the phrase "constitutional process" comes in—such a treaty would mean nothing and could not be put into effect unless it was first submitted to the Senate and the Senate approved.

So, although the Senate here is telling the president to start something, anything he does can't work unless the Senate looks it over and says it's OK.

You may ask: Well, why then is the resolution so important if, in the end, the president can't do anything suggested in the resolution unless the Senate says it's all right?

In the first place, it clearly shows how far this country—and particularly the Senate, which years ago kept us out of the league of nations—has moved from its old-time isolationism.

Before World War II we had carefully avoided—under the Monroe doctrine—getting into any kind of military alliance in peacetime with any group of foreign nations.

Further, if we wind up in a military alliance with western

Bridge Moving On U. S. 22 Set For Next Week

Detour For Several Days While Work Is Under Way

If present plans are carried out, the work of moving the temporary bridge over East Fork of Paint Creek, just east of this city on Route 22, will get under way first of the week, and it will require several days to move the structure to the new temporary place for it in the runaround just north of the present span.

Some five days will be necessary for the moving, and during that time a detour will be in effect on U. S. 22.

In the meantime vast quantities of earth are being moved from the field south of the highway and immediately east of Paint Creek, to complete the large fill necessary for the runaround, and to build up the roadway which is being widened considerably on both sides of the bridge.

Work on the new bridge proper will get under way within the next two weeks, it is indicated, and this job will require a number of weeks to complete.

The present roadway at the bridge is to be lifted above the 1913 flood mark, which was Europe, Russia isn't likely to sit idly by, biting its nails.

The only purpose of such an alliance at this time in history would be to set up a wall of steel against any western move by Russia.

That would mean splitting the world into two camps; America and her friends whoever they happen to be, and Russia and her friends.

And at this point it would be hard to say what meaning would be left to the United Nations.

about 28 inches over the old road level west of the bridge.

Monster scrapers and bulldozers are being used to move and haul the earth for the fill.

Work of placing stone on the runaround fill is to start this week, so the runaround will be ready for use as soon as the temporary bridge is moved to close the link in the runaround.

STRETCHES MANPOWER

Portable motors save time, energy and money

▲ Veteran 5 HP single phase electric motor has many uses on Arthur Brubaker farm, R. R. 2, West Alexandria. Myron Witters, farm field man, and Paul Brubaker, aged 4, agree that this is the easiest way to husk and shell corn.

▲ Myron Witters shows the electric wagon unloader built by Arthur Brubaker from old car parts. It has a 3/4 HP motor and is used to unload silage, chopped hay, straw.

• With dependable farm help so scarce, Arthur Brubaker has found the answer. He believes every farm should have a large 5 HP electric motor for such jobs as grinding feed, blowing straw, hay into the mow, silage into the silo. The motor starts with a push button, runs for about 10c an hour, and requires almost no maintenance.

The Brubaker farm has 100 amp. entrance service. Electrical helpers in use include refrigerator and range, home water system, barn water system, dairy water heater, electric milker, milk cooler, frozen food cabinet, a welder and a feed grinder.

A portable electric utility motor can stretch man power on your place, too. It can make short work of such chores as cutting wood, cleaning grain, chopping and mixing feed, churning, hoisting hay, spraying or running a lathe. For practical suggestions on the uses of utility motors, on the farms, consult your County Agriculture Agent, Vocational Agriculture Instructor or the Farm Representative of The Dayton Power and Light Company serving your neighborhood.

Government Could Profit by This Example

In talking with a Washington C. H. industrial manager a few days ago we learned with interest of an organized effort in industry and among manufacturers to cut down waste. We remarked that it was certainly a shame that government operations could not set and follow a similar pattern. He agreed.

In the war years we heard many excuses for government waste. Now that rush operations are no longer so vital, we note that private industry is gradually ridding itself of the urgency and necessity to cut all corners in manufacturing processes during the war which gave rise to wasteful procedure in many instances. Why does government insist that it cannot do this, but must spend more and more on and on indefinitely?

Someday some really sincere candidate who really means it when he talks about economy in government, will really put the screws on and do something about it. He may be unpopular with the pressure groups seeking "something for nothing" but we'll bet a good cigar that when the taxpayers really realize what such a man is doing, he can be reelected almost by acclamation.

Getting back to what private industry is trying to do, this local manufacturer informed us that a nation-wide campaign is under way which is enlisting employer cooperation. Suggestions are to be judged and awarded prizes, slogans and other forms of publicity are being mapped. One automobile manufacturer has established a salvage store where by-products and damaged goods are sold, with benefit both to seller and to purchaser. One chocolate manufacturer has reduced the number of broken or damaged candy bars by the installation of more efficient machinery. Scrap iron is being collected efficiently and used to a greater extent, and lumber from incoming crates is turned into covers for outgoing shipments. In some offices, supplies are being saved by closer scrutiny.

This is a fortunate country, with rich but not unlimited resources. Nothing will contribute more to our continued prosperity than a heedful attitude toward waste from government down to the individual. The campaign being put on by the large manufacturers might with profit be taken part in by government agencies, stores and homes.

The Farmer Speaks

Henry Wallace may present a threat to the Democratic party with his vote-splitting tactics, but it's a sure bet he won't win a popularity contest with farmers, according to a survey recently conducted for Successful Farming magazine.

Sixty-four percent of American farmers feel that Henry Wallace is positively unfit to be president of the United States. He is "disgusting," "nuts," a "windbag," "moron," "screwball," and so on in the opinion of 45 percent of the farmers. Twenty-six percent are either holding judgment or just don't know what they think.

Only one out of every 10 farmers indicates his faith in Wallace as a "good, honest" man. More than half the farmers in the nation disapprove not only of Wallace the man, but also of his political views. He's too "radical," "too leftist" for 52 percent; his theories are "too vague" for another 3 percent. Only five percent approve roundly of Henry, and his so-called efforts for the little man.

Despite the very decided opinions of more than 50 percent of the farmers, 37 percent of all farmers still have "no opinion" about the Wallace political stand.

"Burning the midnight oil" should never have grown to such unreasonable proportions that people got the idea they had to keep it up all night.

Lord Drafts Another Good Chef

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The Lord was drafted another good chef. And he's taking him—Cesare Antonio (papa) Moneta—from a land that is getting short of good chefs and could use again some of the stately customs of a day that is dead.

Time is tearing down the great mansions of the rich, and a change in living standards has also destroyed the patterns of the gilded age.

Some were bad but some were good—too good to lose. And among them was the leisurely enjoyment of fine food, a dying American tradition.

The hurried "ulcer stations" of the present—the soda fountain counter, the chrome-and-Neon palaces of the glorified hamburger, the hot dog and water orange juice stands—have risen to replace many grand restaurants.

A victim of this gulp-it-on-the-run trend in eating was "Papa" Moneta, who at the age of 69 has gone to join his master, escoffier, in the heaven where gourmets gather.

One of the great restaurateurs of his century, "Papa" Moneta came into the world when eating was a fine art and left with the conviction too many had come to accept food as only something one had to take to supplement vitamin pills.

He was a casualty of the growing American obsession for the wilted lettuce sandwich and a profile figure too slim to cast a shadow. He had about as much interest in the nine-day diet as a turtle would in a six-day bike race.

For diets were simply not of his world. His world was the world of the gastronome and the epicure—of wine and wonderful foods, savored well, eaten slowly and remembered long. It was the world of "Diamond Jim" Brady and Lillian Russell—of the three-hour lunch and the six-hour dinner. It was the world in which meals came in dishes instead of capsules.

"Papa" Moneta often bragged he was born with an iron spoon in his mouth. It was a part of his life he kept close to kitchens. He began his career at the age of 14 in his native Italy, working as an inn handyman for a dollar a month.

Later he was chef or head waiter in famous hotels and Boston, Philadelphia and London, where he worked under Auguste Escoffier, the celebrated French culinary artist.

In 1918 he opened his own place on Mulberry Street—first at No. 24 and later at No.

32—and for almost 25 years it drew international notables and plain citizens in town looking for fine food well-served.

"Papa" Moneta's cuisine was a mixture from many lands—French, German, Italian, and American. He blended them in a way those who ate there will never forget.

But to keep a fine restaurant going, customers with a palate are necessary. And customers who will take the time to relish food. "Papa" Moneta saw the tempo of the times was against him. People no longer would drop in at 3 P. M. for a cocktail, order dinner at 6, finish it at 9 and dawdle over brandy, wine and conversation until midnight.

In 1942 he retired, mourning: "You can't make money these days running a fine restaurant and paying attention to good food. There are no gourmets any more. Everybody is in a hurry."

But "Papa" Moneta never was.

Perhaps the household gods in heaven will let him run a real restaurant for the thousands who now throng up to the pearly gates still hiccuping from their last meal on earth—a ham salad sandwich with a sodium bicarb chaser.

Time isn't so important, when you've no place else to go.

Truman Imitator of Roosevelt

By George E. Sokolsky

The presidency of the United States is a tough job under any circumstances, but when, in addition, a man adds to his burdens the role of being someone not himself, of acting a role for which he is fitted neither by nature nor by experience, he cannot but fail. We have Harry Truman and not an imitation of Franklin D. Roosevelt, it is altogether probable that he would have retained the popularity that was his during his first year in office.

Roosevelt was extraordinary not in his charm nor in his knowledge nor in his capabilities. He possessed a capacity to make men do what they did not wish to do. He exuded power and success, few of those closest to him altogether believed in his abilities or in the soundness of his judgments, as the present murrain of memoirs indicates, but they knew that he was able to gain popular if not intimate approval.

His speeches never written by himself, were trifling documents, as anyone can know who reads them, or better still, listens to them now from N. B. C. recordings. But the public regarded him as a great orator, even though he often said what he did not mean. One need only read the Harry Hopkins memoirs, and to read them against the Roosevelt speeches the identical period, to discover the discrepancy between the word and the deed. Nevertheless, a large part of the public believed him and still does. To some he is almost a god. Substance, reality is unrelated to this adulation, but the fact of it is beyond doubt. Roosevelt could take the people's money and make a campaign trip without too much concern. Everybody knew that the inspection trip was a fraud, but somehow Roosevelt could get away with the fraud without opposition. He got away with so much without opposition. It fitted his personality and the times.

Harry Truman has a different personality. He is the small man. He lacks the majestic sweep, the broad manner, the assurance that comes from wealth and Groton and Harvard if nothing else. Roosevelt's mother, born among the kingly white folk of Hong-Kong, had it. For these China coast white folk lived and ruled like feudal lords and came to believe that those beneath them were vassals to be treated with condescending noblesse oblige. It was easy to tell a lie if it was a lie for a good purpose.

Harry Truman cannot do that. He is the kind of person who always gives himself away or is s'ways found out. Maybe Cal Coolidge was that kind of man, but Cal was wise enough to be Cal Coolidge and not try to be a Theodore Roosevelt or a Woodrow Wilson. He remained himself. He did not hire experts to tell him how to speak what they told him to say. He did not find down his nasal so that he sounded like someone else after the country had become accustomed to him sounding like himself. He had no Sam Rosenman in his entourage to tell him how the master did it.

Harry Truman might have left a loveable memory of himself in the White House had he never departed from his own personality. Of course, the liberals would not have liked him, for they, often being snobs, only speak of the common man but generally despise him. They would have accused him of being a conservative, which he undoubtedly is by nature: They would have ridiculed him, which they do now.

Whoever advised Harry Truman to try to look like a Stark Club liberal treated him shabbily, for one must be that sort of thing to look it. And the imitation served no purpose, for these pseudo-intellectuals will never be for Truman. First they turned to Eisenhower, then to Stassen, then to Vandenberg and now apparently they are for Austin. But never, never can they be for Truman, for he is really only a simple American, which they dislike. That is why this "non-political" trip is such a failure. The public senses the fraud and responds accordingly. Harry Truman cannot get away with a fraud. He is too honest at heart.

Diet and Health Cancer Is Threat To Children, too

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

NEARLY everyone thinks of cancer as a disease of the middle-aged or elderly. Unfortunately, it also occurs in children and, when it does, the only means of saving the child's life lies in early recognition and removal of the tumor growth.

The same thing, of course, is true in adults but in children, early recognition is even more important because in youngsters cancer runs a wild-fire course. Early in the disorder—much earlier than in the case with most adults—cells from the cancer are carried to other parts of the body, particularly the lungs.

Diagnosis Easier

Child victims of cancer have this advantage—in their diagnosis is likely to be easier than in the adult because in nearly all cases the tumor is easily seen or felt. Even so, however, cancer still kills as many children under 15 each year as any one of the following diseases—measles, scarlet fever, tuberculosis, and whooping cough. The cancer may be present at birth, or even before the child is born. The usual locations of such tumors are the eyes, nervous system, kidneys, the adrenal glands located just above the kidneys, the bones, and blood-forming tissues. Tumors of the central nervous system, or those affecting the lymph glands, are often seen in children from four to twelve years of age.

Cancer of the eye may cause the pupil of one eye to be enlarged. Tumors which affect the throat may cause blocking of the air passages. Enlarged glands in the neck are another sign of such growths. Cancers of the bones cause swelling, with tenderness and interference with movements. Tumors of the kidney are generally detected by feeling the mass.

Probably from 10 to 15 per cent. of all cases of Hodgkins disease—a

X-Ray Helpful

As with the adult, X-ray examination is helpful in the diagnosis and examination of the more typical forms of cancer. Examination of the blood to determine the amount of lime and phosphorus present, is helpful, together with X-ray examination, in the detection of bone cancers.

Of course, whenever operation is performed to remove a tumor, definite diagnosis can be made by examining some of the tumor tissue under the microscope. Diagnosis may also be accurately established by means of aspirating a minute piece of the tumor, using a needle and syringe. This material can then be properly stained and examined under the microscope.

Of course there is a great deal of need for further study of cancer in order to determine causes and more satisfactory methods of treatment. Until such time as newer methods are developed, early diagnosis and prompt removal seems to be the most effective method of treatment available, though X-ray and radium treatments are useful in some cases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

N. N.: How can a person tell if he has tuberculosis of the throat?

Answer: Tuberculosis of the larynx or voice-box would cause continued hoarseness. Other symptoms of tuberculosis, such as loss of weight and strength, are usually present.

Of course, if tuberculosis is suspected, a thorough examination by a physician should be carried out at once.

Goodrich Opens Research Center

CLEVELAND, June 16 (AP)—The B. F. Goodrich Co. officially opened a multi-million dollar research center today which it said would enable the concern to bring "scientific discoveries to maturity three or four times faster than at present."

Goodrich President John L. Collier said the center at nearby Brecksville was believed to be "the most complete industrial workshop of science now in existence."

In addition to rubber studies, the laboratory will be used for extensive research in chemicals, plastics, agriculture, horticulture, and the application of nuclear energy to rubber manufacturing.

Important GOP Role Held by Rep. Brown

Fayette County's representative in the national Congress, Hon. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, today was shaping up as potentially one of the outstanding figures in the forthcoming Republican National convention which opens Monday in Philadelphia.

Rep. Brown, the reelected national committeeman for Ohio, is a member of the Ohio delegation to the nominating convention. But what is more important, he is the campaign manager of Sen. Robert A. Taft, one of the top candidates for the GOP presidential nomination.

As Sen. Taft's floor manager at the convention, Rep. Brown also will be one of the key men in the behind-the-scenes maneuvers at the convention.

Rep. Brown has many friends in Fayette County. He has spoken here many times, both during and between campaigns.

For the first time in years, Fayette County will be represented at the convention officially. Forrest Anders is a member of the state delegation as one of the seventh district's two delegates.

Walter Sollars also may go to the convention. He is an alternate-at-large and if one of the delegates is unable to go, Sollars will fill the vacancy.

William M. Campbell has received, through Rep. Brown an appointment as assistant sergeant-at-arms. At present, he is planning to attend.

Cagy Rep. Brown
The importance of Rep. Brown in the convention has been described by Dick Cull, Jr., the Washington, D. C., representative of the Dayton News. His report after an interview and appraisal of Rep. Brown follows:

Cagey Clarence Brown spread his hearty bulk in a chair in the House ways and means committee room Thursday and held a one-man pep rally for his man, Robert A. Taft.

The affair was actually a press conference. "It will be about the last chance I have to talk to you over the weekend," explained Brown, the Blanchester congressman who is quarterbacking the Taft campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Like the astute politician he is, Brown had made sure that his pep rally was well attended. He had arranged that by systematically notifying bureau offices of the conference and the double-checking by informing the press galleries.

In combing the ship, Brown even called the same office more than once.

The result was what the shrewd campaigner wanted. The committee room had the SRO sign out when the host hove into view.

Sparring by Reporters
The full house then proceeded to spar with the large man in the front of the room for nearly half an hour. The reporters often aimed straight shots at Brown but found the target had slipped and rolled with the punch.

He said his man Taft would have 312 votes on the first ballot but "people can change their mind." On the second count, he added, 60 or 90 more votes would come his way "if we want them."

At that point he reminded his listeners that the Taft support was "very firm support." This was meant as a contrast to the delegate strength of other candidates.

"Our people believe Bob Taft is the best man for president and should be nominated," Brown said. Brown said he hoped his man would be chosen on the fourth ballot. He didn't think the actual balloting would begin until Thursday of convention week, which opens June 21.

Once the favorite-son support wears out, he thought the battle would cover a field of six—Taft, Dewey, Stassen, Vandenberg, Warren and Joe Martin.

What About Bricker?
Someone asked, "What about Bricker?" And inquired about a "deal" between Taft and his junior colleague from Ohio in the U. S. Senate.

Brown mentioned Bricker's popular appeal but insisted he had made no agreement to support anyone but Taft.

Most startling statement of the press conference came when Brown reported, in answer to a question about Vandenberg's chances, that the Michigan senator had told him the night before that he was not a candidate.

Brown dropped the remark casually, although the long-time performer in politics probably recognized its value.

He said Vandenberg told him he hoped "they are smart enough to nominate someone quick."

Asked if he believed what he said he heard, Brown replied, "of course" and that he hoped Vandenberg would "support my candidate."

But the statement didn't set off much of an explosion. Some of the correspondents gave second-place mention to it; others buried it in their accounts of what happened.

Payroll Tax Plan For Akron Studied

AKRON, June 16—(P)—Akron city councilmen, seeking new sources of revenue for the rubber city's ailing treasury, will visit Toledo tomorrow to study Toledo's payroll plan.

"There is a lot of sentiment against such a tax," said Akron Turner, "But we need the backbone to do such a job."

Council has scheduled a special session here Friday night to hear arguments for and against a local payroll tax as a possible method of meeting the city's indebtedness.

Youngstown and Columbus also have adopted city payroll taxes in moves to balance their budgets.

What is our most priceless possession? Is it not our children? Should we not marshal all efforts to get our children off to the right start in the educational process?

We find time for adult sports. We spend money for non-essentials. We make room for clubs and fraternal organizations. But we can't take time and effort to form a plan for the children's benefit. We won't take financial responsibility, and we can't find room for a kindergarten.

A long time ago the kindergarten system was developed. It became known as a constructive force in society. Its adoption was widespread. It was adopted in our community. Thus, our community has realized benefits for many years from the organizing of the first thought patterns and the play habits of our little children into constructive channels. Now we are about to lose the value of its formative force in the life of our children because of indifference.

Children of the kindergarten age need supervision. They are old enough for the first rudiments of education which can be presented to them in a happy fashion. They are old enough to play and to have fun in groups. At home there is not enough time to train their educational potentialities. At home and in the neighborhood there often is not opportunity for organized, supervised, group play.

If we have no kindergarten this winter we will lose state aid for this project. We will lose about $2300. We can't regain state aid in the future until such a time as the kindergarten is in operation at least one year. We will lose financially and culturally, and we will neglect our children.

We have problems of expansion and space in our school system. So do other communities. Some communities are alert. Some communities are solving their problems. Some communities are not giving up their kindergartens. "Where there is a will, there is a way," so, we have the challenge to save our kindergarten.

Daughters And Sons Are Guests Of Rotarians

Program Enjoyed At Club's Annual Event Here Tuesday

It was sons', daughters' and grandchildren's day at Rotary Tuesday noon at the Country Club.

A score or more guests coming under this category were made welcome by President Webber French and other Rotarians and all present, including the Rotarians themselves, seemed to have a great time.

The program arranged for the day was excellent and the kind that would interest everybody. Even when William Clift, club song leader, again called up that old favorite, "I'm A Little Prairie Flower," practically everyone joined in the vocal effort and acrobatics called for.

Mrs. Joan Rhoads opened the program with a graciously given and well received reading. She was followed by Miss Janice Murray, who sang three songs. They were beautifully rendered and this talented young lady, whose singing has attracted so much attention on the radio, won the enthusiastic plaudits of her audience.

Misses Claire Frances and Joan Campbell were next on the program. A clever catchy little song by Joan, accompanied at the piano by her sister, set the feet of many of the youngsters to tapping. Claire Frances followed with a

Rev. John Abernethy, general program chairman, presided during the entertainment activities and also called upon Rotarians to introduce their guests. Several Rotarians, who had no children or grandchildren present, asked a Boy Scout to attend as their guest.

Members with guests attending were: Supt. A. B. Murray, Janice Murray; H. R. Petersen, Elsa Petersen; Walter Craig, Eli Craig; Willard Wilson, Mrs. Joan Rhoads; L. M. Hayes, Sue Hayes; Rev. While walking across a pasture field near his home Tuesday, Louis C. Parrett of the Chillicothe Road, found a mass of copperized wire, and following it to the end, discovered that it vanished in a small hole in the ground.

Obtaining a shovel, he proceeded to dig to a depth of 16 inches in the hard soil, and found the lead bob, which apparently had broken from a plane, with its 220 feet of wire.

On the plumb bob were the letters and numerals "NAF 71003," so that the outfit might be from a naval air force or civilian plane.

The wire apparently had been broken off as the aerial was dropped, and the leaden weight probably fell 1,000 to 5,000 feet and then penetrated the ground 16 inches.

Lions Entertain Ladies At Charter Night Dinner Dance

One of the loveliest parties of the year was the Lions Club Charter Night dinner dance given by members for their ladies at the Washington Country Club Tuesday evening.

Distinguished guests present included Judge and Mrs. William Wiseman, past district governor of Dayton, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Flatter of Osborn, district governor elect. Local invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Darlington, Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Briggs.

Mr. John Sagar, chairman of the arrangements for the Charter Night party, acted as toastmaster. He introduced the outgoing president, Robert Terhune, who will assume the office of deputy district governor. Mr. Terhune was presented with a brief case from the Lions organization and Lion Club directors who served with him, presented him with a lovely pen and pencil set.

Incoming officers were introduced. They are Don Gibson, president; Tail Twister, Frank Lentz; Lion Tamer, Norris Highfield; secretary, C. L. Musser; treasurer, Ray Warner; first vice president, Ambrose Elliott; second vice president, Walter Rettig; third vice president, Howard Wright; directors for two years, A. E. Weatherly and Gene McLean.

The club lounge was beautifully decorated with summer flowers for the party. The ladies wore beautiful pastel colored evening gowns.

Mrs. R. L. Seblom, president of the newly created Lioness Club, was introduced and she in turn introduced the officers of this organization.

Following the serving of the delicious dinner by Mrs. Hazel Devins, those present enjoyed dancing to music furnished by a dance band from Urbana.

Informal Parties

Preceding the dinner dance there were a number of informal get togethers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Foster entertained a number of friends at the McDonald home.

Included in their list of guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bower, Mr. and Mrs. William McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ward, Miss Nancy Devins, Mr. Don Brandenburg, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gillen, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Loudner, Mr. and Mrs. Langdon McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. James Shoemaker, Dr. and Mrs. Don Mossbarger.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. O'Brien invited a number of their friends to their home.

Their guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Ellet Kaufman, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Parrett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reinke, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thrallkill, Miss Nancy Devins, Mr. Don Brandenburg, Dr. and Mrs. C. Three Hostesses Combine Hospitalities For Party

A dessert bridge and hearts party was given Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Craig on Rawlings Street by their daughter, Miss Virginia, Miss Marie Marchant and Miss Nancy Lee James, for Miss Carol McCoy, who will become the bride of David Ellies on Sunday, June 27.

Beautiful summer flowers had been arranged, at vantage points throughout the home and the dining table and small tables where the guests were seated for the delicious dessert course, were attractively centered with small candle bride and groom sets surrounded by greenery, and white flowers.

The honor guest was presented with a lovely gift from the three hostesses.

In the bridge game favors were presented to Miss Amelia Pensyl and Miss Carol McCoy while the hearts prizes went to Mrs. J. A. McCoy and Mrs. George Calhoun.

Guests invited were Misses Helen Hutson, Amelia Pensyl, Marjorie Evan, Mary Carolyn Rhoads, Helen McCoy, Helen Adams, Mary Sexton, Joann Crouse, Judith Paul, Martha Hughes, Jean McCoy, Mrs. J. A. McCoy, Mrs. James McCoy, Mrs. Robert Allen, Mrs. James Garringer, Mrs. George Calhoun, Mrs. Jack Sollars, of this city, Miss Jean McCoy of Dayton, Miss Evelyn Long of St. Louis, Miss Anna Baumgartner of Sylvania, Miss Donna Holmes of Toledo, Mrs. William Kessler of Zanesville, Mrs. Ronald Gregory of Champaign, N. Y., Mrs. Robert Lanum of Columbus, Mrs. William Williams of Cincinnati and Mrs. Robert Clark of Springfield.

Birthday Party For Anne Craig

Twenty-four girls and boys helped Anne Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Craig celebrate her sixth birthday at a party Monday afternoon at her home in Bloomingburg.

The children enjoyed playing on the swings and slides in the lovely yard at the home. In the marble hunt Anna Lee Frye and Winnie Stevenson won the favors while Judy McFadden, Beverly Evans and Janet McConnaughey won the prizes for being able to "Pin the Tail on the Donkey."

A large sack, filled with bubble gum, was burst and the children made a wild scramble for it.

The honor guest, little Anne, received many lovely gifts for which she thanked each in her sweet childish manner.

Tempting refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. Craig, assisted by Anne's grandmother, Mrs. M. G. Morris and several mothers of the children. They were Mrs. Glenn Heistand, Mrs. Theodore Knisley, Mrs. Edgar McFadden, Mrs. Cecil Knisley, Mrs. Forest Frye and Mrs. Leonard Stevenson.

Guests included Kay Heistand, Vicki and Vonnice Reinhold, Nancy Nessell, Barbara Sue Knisley, Brenda Emery, Karen Johnson, Charlene Hicks, Judy McFadden, Onda McCoy, Kathie and Terry Knisley, Janet McConnaughey, Janet Noble, Beverly and Sandra Evans, Winnie and Linda Stevenson, Anna Lee Frye of Mt. Sterling, Ruth Ellen and Susan Laymaster of Delaware, Alice, David and Richard Craig.

Ronald Haines Guest of Honor

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haines entertained with a basket dinner Sunday in honor of their son, Ronald, on his second birthday.

The dining room table was centered with a lovely decorated cake with two pink candles. After the delicious meal pictures were taken of the group and the rest of the day was spent visiting.

The little honor guest received a number of nice gifts.

Those enjoying the happy occasion were Mrs. Lillie Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Blair, son Junior, Mr. and Mrs. James Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blair, son Bobby, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Knisley all of Washington C. H.; Mr. Everett Haines, Harold, Margaret and Mildred Haines and Mr. Dwight Minton.

Girls Surprise Carolyn Beatty

Mrs. Walter Beatty surprised her daughter, Carolyn Ann, on her twelfth birthday Monday evening.

The girls assembled at the home of Mila Weatherly and Mrs. Beatty had arranged to take them to the show. When they stopped at the Weatherly home the girls immediately started extending birthday congratulations.

Carolyn Ann received a number of lovely gifts.

After attending the show, the girls returned to the Beatty home where refreshments were served. Girls included in the party were members of the Cheskamay campfire group.

Judge and Mrs. William C. Wiseman of Dayton, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hynes for the Lions Club Charter Night Party at the Washington Country Club. Judge Wiseman is a past district governor of Lions.

Couple Exchange Wedding Vows

Miss Freda Cottrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cottrell of this city, was united in marriage to Corporal John Paul Pettit in a single ring ceremony Sunday afternoon at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cecil Pettit, 524 E. Elm Street.

Rev. Arthur George read the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families. Mr. Cottrell gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride chose a street length dress of peach crepe with white accessories. A gardenia corsage completed her costume.

Corporal Pettit is with the Air Force, being stationed on Johnston Island in the Pacific. He is home on a thirty day leave and will return to his base in the Pacific.

Surprise Party

Mrs. Harry Hidy surprised her husband Monday evening by inviting a few friends in for a birthday dinner party. Those attending were Mr. Clarence Freshour, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Freshour, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. James Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jett, son Roger.

More than 50 cities in the United States are now carrying on anti-noise campaigns.

Exploring Ohio

WITH SOHIO X-70

You don't have to take long trips to have a lot of fun in this state of ours. "Just around the corner" is history, beauty, fun!

Ohio's State Capitol, in Columbus, houses the legislative, judicial and executive branches of our State Government. It was completed in 1861. Thousands of Ohioans visit the State House every year—and the biggest percentage of them use Sohio X-70 to get there! For no other gasoline is so popular with Ohioans.

Miles and miles of smooth sandy beaches stretch along Ohio's northern boundary. Often called "Ohio's Riviera", the Lake Erie shore is a popular summer playground for Ohioans. You can drive along the Lake from one end of the state to the other... and you'll find Sohio X-70 handy all along the route!

All over Ohio are beautiful parks in all their natural loveliness. This particular view is in one of the Hocking Parks. What's more fun for all the family than an all-day picnic in one of these cool, quiet spots? It costs so little, too... just a picnic lunch and a few gallons of long-mileage Sohio X-70.

How the children love to visit the Zoo! The one shown here is in Cincinnati, but there are other outstanding zoos in Ohio. It won't take much long-mileage Sohio X-70 to get to one.

Scenic beauty abounds in Ohio. This scene is from a hilltop overlooking the Ohio River. No matter where you live, there's beautiful countryside right near by. Enjoy it! It costs so little with economical, long-mileage Sohio X-70.

Free Outing Book! "Let's Plan an Outing" is a new guide to picnic and outing spots in Ohio. All State Parks, Roadside Picnic Parks, and major Metropolitan Park Systems are included. Maps and attractive illustrations. Contains detailed information on picnic tables, approved drinking water, sanitary facilities and other helpful hints about Ohio's picnic spots. Legion Junior Baseball Sign-up This Week

Registration for the American Legion junior baseball teams of Fayette County will be open to boys between the ages of 10 and 17 through Saturday of this week according to Norris Highfield, athletic director of the Paul H. Hughey Post.

At the organization meeting held here last week nearly 20 boys signed up but hope was expressed that many more will register this week in order to have several teams in the league.

Junior baseball is sponsored annually by the American Legion with the cooperation of the Ford Motor Co. The Fayette County teams will be sponsored by the Paul H. Hughey Post and the Carroll Halliday Motor Co. The program, in its 21st year, is a nationwide youth activity of the Legion, designed to build physical strength, clean sportsmanship and character among the youth of the country. Almost a million boys were enrolled last year.

More than 300 baseball players in the big leagues last year started their baseball careers in Legion junior baseball.

The Fayette County program will be supervised by Legionnaire Fred Pierson.

Boys from 10 to 17 looking forward to a career in baseball or those who just like to play ball for fun are to register at the Legion home here by Saturday evening to be eligible for one of the teams.

Champs To Play VFW at Sabina

Game Set for Friday Seen as 'Acid Test'

In a twin bill to be played at Sabina Memorial Park Friday evening, the Civic Center VFW team of Columbus, world's champions among all Veterans of Foreign Wars softball teams at the finals in Wichita, Kansas, last year, will invade this district.

The first game at 7:30 P. M. will be between the Civic Center team and the team of the "Eden of Ohio" Post of Sabina. This team, composed of post members only, is a new aggregation that promises to be the strongest team ever to play in Sabina uniform.

Among team members are Don Earley, Earl Storey, Don Anderson, Travis Hollingsworth, J. Turner, Johnny Nichols, Noel Garber, Wayne and Bill Rittenhouse, Diz Talmage, Herschel Lancen, Bob Case, John Pratt, Rocky Rockwell, and Francis Callahan.

Manager Clarence "Gus" Bock, of the Sabina team, has applied to enter this team in the National VFW Tournament this year and this game is to be the acid test of the team's quality.

In the second contest at 8:30 P. M. the Civic Center team will meet the Sabina Merchants who are only half a game out of first place in the Greater Ohio Softball League of this district, in a non-league tilt.

These games are to be the entrance of Sabina teams into the strongest competition they can obtain. The Civic Center team is to play a return engagement at a later date and games have also been scheduled in the future bookings of the Merchants with the Champion Paper Team of Hamilton and the 740 AC Team of Columbus, both District Champs of '47, West Side Cabs of Dayton, and the Standard register team, also of Dayton.

Reds Trowned Again by Brooks

First Night Game Played in Detroit

By JOE REICHLER
(By the Associated Press)

The inauguration of night baseball in Detroit proved a smashing success—thanks to the strong left arm of Hal Newhouse.

The star Tiger southpaw, pitching the first home night game in Detroit history, gave added proof last night he still was the best left-hander in the American League when he twirled a two-hit 4-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics.

It was the seventh successive victory for Newhouse and the fifth in a row for the Tigers.

A near-capacity crowd of 54,480 which came to view the new $400,000 lighting plant saw the Tiger outfield provide Newhouse with all the backing he needed. Left fielder Dick Wakefield belted his third home run of the season, right fielder Pat Mullin smashed his ninth four-bagger and centerfielder Hoot Evers batted in the other two runs with a pair of singles.

Best Night Record
It was Detroit's fifth success in six night engagements, the best record of any club in the majors. It also narrowed the third place New York Yankees' lead to only two games. The Yankees were beaten by the White Sox 9-8 in an 11-inning thriller in Chicago.

Barney McCosky crashed into the concrete wall while attempting to catch Wakefield's home run drive and had to be carried off the field on a stretcher. It was believed the A's leftfielder escaped with a bruised back.

The Yankees overcame a seven-run third inning by the White Sox to deadlock their game 8-8 in the eighth, but the Sox came back with a run in the last of the 11th to win. A single by Taft Wright, a two-base wild throw by catcher Yogi Berra in an attempt to nip the stealing Wright, and pitcher Earl Caldwell's deep fly accounted for the winning run. It was Berra who forced the game into overtime with a three-run homer in the eighth.

Homecoming Spoiled
The Boston Red Sox spoiled Cleveland's homecoming by handing the Indians a 7-3 setback in a night game in Cleveland. The American League leaders, however, retained their three-game bulge over the runner-up A's.

Southpaw rookie Mel Parnell gained his second victory of the season with a neat seven-hitter in outpitching Bob Lemon.

New Champs Certain In Collegiate Golf

COLUMBUS, June 16—(AP)—A new champion was a certainty today as the fourth annual Women's Collegiate Golf tournament moved into the round of eight.

Still favored to be that queen of the Collegiate links was Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., the John B. Stetson University entry and Curtis Cup star.

Miss Lenczyk, the runner-up last year, sailed right through the first round yesterday with a 6 and 5 conquest of Marilyn Herpel of Washington University, St. Louis.

Shirley Spork of Michigan State Normal, conqueror of Miss Lenczyk in last year's finals, dropped out of the running yesterday in the day's only out-and-out upset.

Alice O'Neal, former Indiana University's champion from Rollins College topped the reigning tilt, two and one.

Johnny Sain pitched the Boston Braves into undisputed possession of the National League lead by defeating the Chicago Cubs in a night game in Boston, 6-3. Sain allowed only six hits in chalking up his seventh victory.

Boston's win, coupled with Pittsburgh's 2-0 victory over the Giants in New York, enabled the Braves to break their first-place deadlock with the Giants. The Polo Grounders fell into a second place tie with Pittsburgh.

The fourth-place St. Louis Cardinals remained a game and a half off the pace by edging out the Phillies 2-1 in a night game in Philadelphia. The sixth place Dodgers nipped the Cincinnati Reds 5-4 in Brooklyn. It was the only game played in daylight.

The scheduled night game between the Washington Senators and the Browns in St. Louis was postponed because of rain and wet grounds.

World Series Hopes High in Cleveland
CLEVELAND, June 16—(AP)—Cleveland Indians fans already are thinking in terms of the world series, although the tribe still has two-thirds of its games yet to play. More than 1,000 application for series tickets have been received, the business office said yesterday. It added that all were returned.

Softball Game Wanted for Sunday
Bloomington has a softball team to represent it in the modified national pastime—but its "home" field is at Bookwalter.

Two games have been played this season. The one with a Jeffersonville team was lost, but the one played with a team from near Newport in Madison County was won by the lopsided score of 14 to 2.

Now, the Bloomington-Bookwalter team is looking for more opponents.

First of all, a game is wanted for next Sunday.

Harlan Bennett is the manager. His brother, Lamar, is his first assistant. That is one of the reasons the team is sometimes known as Bennett Brothers.

A call to Harlan (Bloomington exchange 2187) at that is needed to get a game for next Sunday or any other Sunday, the brother-management said. They added the team was ready, willing and anxious to play either on the "home" lot at Bookwalter or that of the opponents.

Mangrum Favorite In Victory Tourney
CHICAGO, June 16—(AP)—Slender Lloyd Mangrum rates the favorite in the $15,000 Chicago victory golf tournament opening tomorrow, and if he wins he regains the money-earning lead from Ben Hogan.

Mangrum's target will be a $2,000 first prize in the 72-hole, four-day medal meet over the rolling acres of the swank Midlothian Country Club. If the 1946 national open champion hits, he will boost his swag for the season to $17,944. This would put him nearly $400 head of belting Ben who has totaled $17,597 for the leadership with his successive triumphs in the National PGA and open.

Outrigger Canoe Used as Pattern For Unique Boat

Former Glider Champ Takes to Sea After Unusual Adaptation

BY KEN LIXES
HONOLULU. —(AP)—Nine years ago Woody Brown broke the world's distance record with a 263-mile glider flight from Wichita Falls, Tex., to Wichita, Kans. The mark still stands as a U. S. record.

Woody Brown never has set a foot in a glider since. "That day I was sitting on top of the world," Brown recalls. "The next day my wife died in childbirth. I never went up in a glider again."

He sailed for Hawaii to start life over. But the wind sang in Woody's blood. He turned to sailing craft.

Working for the army as a surveyor at Christmas Island, about halfway between Hawaii and Samoa, Brown spotted a double outrigger, two canoes joined by poles. "Its speed was astonishing," he said.

Brown came to Hawaii and talked an Hawaiian, Alfred Kumalea, into helping him build a twin-hulled craft.

They fashioned their boat after the giant canoes south sea islanders sailed hundreds of years ago. Historians say Polynesians, navigating by the stars, skimmed over thousands of miles of the Pacific in double canoes. Then the art of building and sailing them finally faded into legend.

Brown and Kumalea consulted old accounts and sketches. They built a three-foot model, then tried a 16-foot craft. Their trial boat was so successful they built a 40-footer, the single modern example of the Catamaran in Hawaii.

They worked in a palm-thatched workshop without power tools, the job took a year's time and the savings the two men had decided to gamble.

The two hulls are joined by a bridge resembling an airplane wing. There is a cockpit in the span and below is room for six bunks. Without keel or centerboard, the craft draws only 15 inches of water. It rides the Waikiki breakers like a surfboard.

It's the fastest sailing thing in Hawaiian waters, with speed estimated at more than 20 knots. It consistently finishes races ahead of conventional sailboats but cannot compete officially because of the unorthodox design. Brown calls it the Manu Kai, Hawaiian for sea bird.

"Sailing the Catamaran is just as thrilling as sailing a glider ever was," Brown enthuses.

He has plans for an 80-footer, which may cost $30,000. When he launches it, says Brown, "we'll be ready for trans-Pacific trips and we'll beat anything that sails."

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

DOWNSTAIRS, again, Andrew measured the front parlor. Perfect for a study or library. He examined the fireplace in the bedroom with a flashlight, almost climbing into it and staring up at the tiny patch of sky with a mounting feeling of excitement. The kitchen had a door to the cellar, and he explored it curiously. The furnace was old, but looked as if it might last for another year or two. It would have to, he mused grimly. Though perhaps he could make do with a couple of small room-stoves at first.

The shed, he decided, could be moved, and he used his steel pocket tape to measure it hurriedly. Yes, it would be big enough, though of course he'd have to have some place for his tools. Perhaps a lean-to.

When he drove back to Branfield, his eyes were shining. He had explored every bit of the property, had paced off the acreage that would be his if the Estabrooks bought the part in which they were interested, had dabbled his fingers in the icy water of the brook, had examined every clapboard, every shingle of the house. It was two o'clock, and he had forgotten all about lunch, but now, suddenly, he knew he was hungry. He stared at the newspaper on the floor of his car, in which he had gathered soil samples. Where could he get them wrapped to send to the State University for analysis? Remembering the Roland Sport Shop, he parked his car and carried the paper inside with him. George Roland came forward at once.

"Hello! I saw you in church Sunday, but I didn't get a chance to speak to you," he greeted Andrew. "Surrounded by ladies, no less?"

Andrew grinned. "Mrs. Potts and Mrs. Woodford were doing their duty by me," he answered. "I think I met at least half the female population of Branfield, and I have a horrible suspicion that I've already forgotten their names."

"That's all right. You'll have them pointed out to you again. I saw you were meeting all our best people, though, and even a few second-best. I hear you're going to settle in town."

"Well, to be accurate, a little outside of the town, that is, if I can get the farm I want. . . . As a matter of fact, I've been out there today, and I got some soil samples. I wondered if I could have them wrapped here—I know it's an imposition."

George took the newspaper from him. "Don't worry about that. If this is what we have to do to get you for a permanent resident, far be it from me to discourage you. Anyway it's my duty as a member of the Chamber of Commerce."

"Have they one here, too?"

"Why not? An up and coming metropolis like Branfield?" He disappeared toward the stock room with a laugh.

When the parcel had been mailed, and Andrew had had a bite to eat at the Cozy Nook, he went back to the farm. This time he went at things seriously. He measured and figured, made rough sketches, poked and pried until darkness fell. Then he went back to the Potts to change. All during supper at the Lodge, the figuring and the sketching went on.

"My goodness, what are you doing?" Maggie asked him once, peering over his shoulder. "It's a mite late to be making out your income tax, and if you've got that much to pay, you'll end up in Alcatraz."

"Mmm— What?" He looked up, startled. "I beg your pardon. What did you say?"

"Skip it," she said, kindly. "I ought to know better than to interrupt a man who's concentrating like you were."

He put aside the envelope and its columns of numerals, and began to eat. "I'm trying to find out how much lumber I'd need to remodel a hypothetical house," he told her.

Maggie sniffed. "Then you'd better figger on hypothetical lumber, too, while you're about it," she said. "Because there ain't any around here."

That got home to him. "What do you mean? I'm not thinking of building—just a little remodeling."

"Don't make any difference," she said, setting his coffee down. "Whether you're building or remodeling there just ain't any."

He remembered that she had said something like that the first time she had waited on him, several weeks ago. But then it had not had the impact which it had now. He said slowly, "Perhaps no lumber for building, but surely a little remodeling—"

Maggie shrugged her thin shoulders. "Let me know if you find any," she said and went to her next table to attend to a new customer.

Her assurance had an ominous quality. Andrew worried about it. If it had been daytime, he would have started a canvass of the mills and contractors at once, but by the time he had finished his supper it was past seven-thirty. He drove back to the Potts house in a thoughtful mood.

Mrs. Potts and Gloria were sitting in the kitchen, as usual. The radio was blaring with deafening emphasis and his landlady, at one side of the kitchen table, was letting out the hem of one of Gloria's dresses, while opposite her the young girl sat with her head bent over her homework. Andrew tapped once on the door frame, hesitating to come in unannounced, but the radio drowned the sound of his knuckles on the wood. He walked in a few steps, stood still and cleared his throat.

Mrs. Potts looked up, jumped a little, and turned on her daughter. "Turn that thing down, Gloria! A body can't hear himself think with all that racket. Sit down, Mr. Paulson. Take that chair near the cupboard. . . . Isn't it ridiculous that young folks nowadays can't do their sums without having some jazz band shrieking in their ears every minute?"

"It's not jazz, Ma," Gloria corrected her. "It's swing."

"Well, in my day it was called jazz, and I can't see that it's one but different, except maybe it's noisier. What did you want, Mr. Paulson?"

Andrew said, "I heard this evening that there is absolutely no lumber available in Branfield, and I wondered if you knew anything about the situation."

Mrs. Potts put down the dress and bent her rather disconcerting stare upon him. "Oh, so you're really in earnest about that Wheeler place? Well, it's a nice enough farm. The old man used to make a decent living from it, but then of course he had two sons to help him." She might have gone on indefinitely, but Andrew interrupted her. "How did you know I was thinking of the Wheeler farm?" he asked curiously.

"Oh, that Eph," she said, with a derogatory wave of her hand. "I went down for some kerosene this afternoon, and he seemed to think you were right steamed up about it."

"Well, I am," Andrew admitted. "But I'd want to remodel it, and that's why I asked about lumber." He was determined to bring her back to his question.

"Lumber," she said, as if she had just heard the word for the first time. "You won't find any lumber around here. It's all contracted for—shipped abroad, I hear."

"Yes, but there must be some that isn't."

"I haven't heard of it, if there is. You ask any of the mill men. Most of them are cleaned out. Not enough wood to build a dog-house, these days. And none coming in, either."

Andrew wondered momentarily if she was trying to discourage him from buying the Wheeler place. Did she want to keep the steady income his room brought her? But he dismissed the idea at once. Emma Potts was too forthright for that. If she had wanted to keep him she would have touted the advantage of living as he was, and would have urged him openly to give up the idea of the farm.

She said, with what was almost a kindly smile, "You check around tomorrow. Ask Alec Priest—he's head of the Branfield Lumber Supply Company, the biggest place we got here—and they're just keeping open for the looks of the thing. He must be losing money like everything."

Andrew felt a wave of discouragement wash over him. Of course, he could buy the Wheeler place and make an attempt to live in it as it stood, but it would not be too pleasant, and besides he felt sure if he did not make the alterations he had in mind right now, it might be a long time before he could afford them. He rose to his feet, unaccountably depressed. Was he to spend the rest of his life in unattractive surroundings? The thought of his room upstairs weighed on him.

Mrs. Potts waved him back into his chair. "Why don't you set a while? I noticed it was raw out tonight, and the kitchen's warmer than your room."

He sat down again.

how limestone helps keep your farm productive

When you apply limestone to your farm land you accomplish several important things at one and the same time.

1. You replace the calcium and magnesium (lime) that have been lost through cropping, erosion, and leaching.
2. The acid condition of your soil, that has developed as the result of the loss of lime, is corrected—that is, the soil is "sweetened."
3. The activity of favorable bacteria is stimulated; the decay of organic matter, such as manure, straw, roots, and stubble, is hastened; and the nitrogen-forming processes are promoted.
4. Other plant foods, especially phosphorus, are kept in more available form.
5. Soil structure is improved; heavy clays and silts are made looser and easier to till.

Lime a part of your farm each year and make this operation a regular part of your farm program.

Richard Rankin To Head Bond Drive in County

Sales Lag Here as Entire State Falls Behind in Volume

With a new county savings bond chairman appointed, the federal government today gave an extra impetus to its drive to put the security loan campaign over the top in Fayette County.

Richard Rankin, Washington C. H. attorney, has been named county chairman.

His appointment was announced by Kuper Hood Jr. of Cincinnati, associate director of the savings bond division, U. S. Treasury Department, for Ohio.

Hood is in charge of bond sales for 22 counties of southern Ohio. In disclosing the appointment of Rankin to the post, Hood said Fayette County ranks 14th among those 22 counties in sales of treasury bonds.

The county, he added, has purchased 26.2 per cent of its quota of about $430,000 for the sales of E, F and G bonds.

But this figure, Hood pointed out, is not too far behind the state average of 31.7 per cent of the quota sold or the average for the 22 southern Ohio states of 28.7 per cent of the quota.

Actual sales in Fayette County have amounted to a net total of $108,898 since the opening of the loan drive in April. The campaign closes July 17.

Every effort will be made, both Hood and Rankin said, to bring the drive to a successful conclusion.

Mickle Horses Are Second in Indiana Pull

Orville Mickle today is back home here from Shelbyville, Ind., with the second place prize and honor he and his team won in the horse pulling contest there Sunday.

In the lightweight class for teams under 3,200 pounds, Mickle's team pulled the 8,000 pound sled 6 feet, 11 inches. The winning team pulled it 8 feet, 8 inches.

In the heavyweight class, the team owned by Smith and Hinton of near Mt. Sterling took first place among the 21 entries by pulling the 9,250 sled 12 feet, 8 inches. The second place team from Vincennes, Ind., pulled it 10 feet, 4 inches.

There were 76 teams entered in the Shelbyville events. The season is just now getting under way, Mickle said as he explained that many of the teams would spend much of the summer touring the middle west taking in the contests.

This is the kind of show the board has arranged to put on for the Saturday night feature of the Fayette County Fair here the last week of July. It will be held in front of the grandstand. Mickle predicted there would be upwards of 70 teams here for the contest.

Released From Jail
Frank Shaw, Mt. Sterling, who had been in the county jail since June 3, on an assault and battery charge, was released from jail Wednesday. There are still five prisoners in the county bastille.

Short Circuit Is Cause of Blaze

Faulty wiring was blamed by firemen for a small blaze in the Ora Bellar residence at 1139 East Paint Street, Tuesday at 2:40 P. M.

Firemen found fire between the weatherboarding and plastering, but reached it by cutting a small hole in the plaster. Damage was light.

County Courts

SENT TO WORKHOUSE

Harold Whiteside, fined $200 and costs and 90 days in the Dayton Workhouse for non-support, when he was given a hearing in Judge Rell G. Allen's Court, Wednesday, was taken to that institution Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Guy Carter.

PARTITION SUIT

Marie Rogers, in a suit filed in common pleas court, makes Wilbur Rogers and the Home Federal Savings and Loan Co. of Xenia, defendants, and asks for partition of 83.31 acres of land in Jefferson Township.

The plaintiff, represented by Clark Wickensimer, states that she and the defendant acquired the land on Feb. 1, 1948, and gave a mortgage for $8,000. The loan company claims an interest in the property, and the plaintiff asks that her interests be set off, and the property sold if necessary.

ASKS $1500 JUDGMENT

Horatio W. Wilson and Luva Ann Wilson seek the sum of $1500 as result of a contract to sell 289.84 acres of land in Highland and Fayette counties, and make Kyril C. Betz and Mary Avanelle Betz defendants.

The plaintiffs, who are represented by E. L. Bush, state that on Feb. 24, 1948, a contract was entered into between the defendant and plaintiffs whereby the plaintiffs were to purchase the land at $32,000, paying $1500 upon execution of agreement; $1500 before March 3, 1948, and the remainder before April 1, 1948.

The plaintiffs state that there was a mortgage for $3,500 outstanding against the property, and that the defendant later notified the plaintiffs that the company holding the mortgage refused to release it, and asked the plaintiffs to assume it, which they refused to do. The defendant then stated he would return the $1500, but has failed to do so, and judgment for the amount is asked.

Traffic Deaths Are Increasing In This State

With 15 traffic deaths having occurred so far this year in Pickaway County, officials are beginning to be alarmed over the large number of deaths in that county as result of traffic mishaps, and are planning to take steps to reduce the number.

In Fayette County so far this year, only four traffic deaths have occurred, compared with 13 all of last year and 17 the previous year.

The number in Pickaway County is more than double the usual toll in that area, and so far this year the number of traffic deaths in the state has shown an increase regardless of traffic safety drives.

With the coming of July 4, the public is being warned by officials and press to "take it easy on the fourth—be alive on the fifth."

Of all Ohio traffic deaths in 1947, one-third were accountable to pedestrian accidents, another 28 percent resulted from non-collision or single vehicle accidents, collisions for 19 percent of the deaths and fatalities at railroad crossings tolled eight percent of the total.

While rural state highways took 42 percent of the deaths, representing the largest single location of accidents, cities of 5,000 population or more were having their troubles with pedestrian fatalities. In these cities about two-thirds of all pedestrian deaths occurred.

More than one third of the 748 traffic fatalities reported on rural state highways in 1947 occurred on straight, level roads; 19 percent on rural highways and on grades or hill crests tolled 13 percent. Deaths at intersections accounted for 17 percent of the deaths.

Officials declare nearly all accidents are the result of carelessness and the remainder to faulty mechanism. They urge extreme caution in driving and periodic car checks.

distributed on the basis of club membership.

The club tour to Columbus on Friday was discussed. Bill Polard, president, presided at the meeting.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

The open-hearth furnace for making steel was invented by William and Frederick Siemens in England in 1856.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

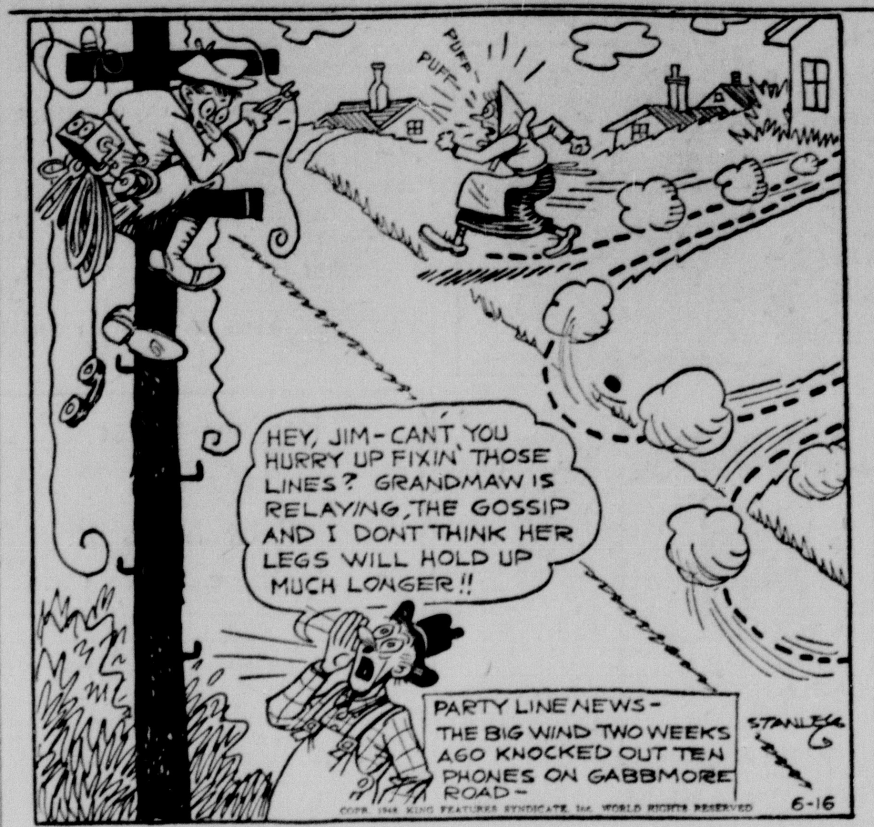

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 33¢ at any drugstore.

Tanda Camp Fire Girls Tour Columbus Store and Hospital

Would you like to work in a department store? Or be a nurse in a hospital?

Members of the Tanda Camp Fire Girls group pondered these questions for some time—and probably still are. But they have more information on which to base their decisions.

Group members and their invited guests went by bus Tuesday to Columbus where they spent the morning on a tour of the Lazarus department store and the afternoon at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Arriving at Lazarus at 10:30 A. M., they were received in the assembly room and heard a talk on the history and policies of the organization and job possibilities there for women.

Statistically, they learned the store is 98 years old, that it would cover 24 acres if it were all on one floor and that if all departments were put end to end they would extend for a mile.

For every four clerks in the store, there are six employees behind the scenes.

Personality Stressed
Lazarus employees are usually high school graduates. Some positions require college or business school background. More important than years of schooling, however, is one personality trait, the girls were told—the ability to get along happily with other employees and people in general.

After the lecture, the girls were taken on a tour of the store.

They saw the clinic, where new employees receive a medical examination and where tired workers may sleep during lunch hour. They saw large carpets being stitched and bound, furniture being upholstered and curtains and drapery being readied.

Window Displays Interest
Perhaps most interesting to the girls was the assembling of window displays.

At 11:30 they went to the Colonial Tea Room on the first floor for lunch.

At 1 P. M. the group had an appointment with the superintendent of nurses of Mt. Carmel Hospital. A conducted tour was taken from the operating rooms on the fifth floor through each department, excepting obstetrics, down to the kitchens in the basement.

Then the girls went to the nurses' home for a tea served in the lounge.

After tea, four members of the faculty talked with the girls, the superintendent speaking at length on the preparation needed in high school as a foundation for nurses' training. Again the girls were told that an important quality for a nurse is the ability to get along with people. Trustworthiness was stressed.

"Learn To Study!"

The girls were warned that anyone who wants to enter the nursing profession must learn to study in high school, since students usually are selected from the upper third of the class.

Group members asked many questions about high school courses necessary for preparation. They were told to "study hard, because that will give a better background for any life work."

Yarn dolls, rocking horse nut cups and tray cards which had been made by the girls were left as gifts. The dolls were taken to children who were at the hospital for eye surgery. They are the only children admitted to Mt. Carmel for treatment.

Several members of Tanda group intend to become nurses.

Those who made the trip were: Marilyn Cunningham, Ruthann Brookover, Betty Lou Baptist, Eleanor Clay, Janet Caley, Linda Lovell, Carolyn Christie, Ann Ducey, Linda Brown, Jo Ann Stackhouse, Rosann Helfrich, Janet McCord, Dinah Davis, Barbara Lawrence, Janey Van Voor-
